

National Dong Hwa University

2015 Chinese Language & Culture Summer Camp

National Dong Hwa University (NDHU)

National Dong Hwa University is situated in Hualien County, Taiwan. NDHU is not only benefited by the local natural and cultural resources, but also has some distinguishing features. For instance, the University has the only College of Indigenous Studies in Taiwan, devoted in promoting the education of aboriginal cultures and preserving valuable cultural assets. Students are able to have a unique experience of Taiwanese indigenous culture learning. In addition, there are several special outdoor sports courses offered on campus, such as kayaking and rock climbing.

Hualien County

Hualien County is located in the eastern coast of Taiwan. It takes about 40 minutes by plane or 2.5 hours by train to get to Hualien County from Taipei. Being favorably endowed with beautiful landscape and abundant aboriginal cultures, it is a good place to admire scenery and to experience culture. Hualien County is renowned for tourism. There are popular tourist attractions like Taroko National Park, Chihsingtan Beach, and Pine Garden.

Brief Introduction of the Camp

Office of International Affairs (OIA) organizes a Chinese Language and Culture Summer Camp (CLCSC) for 2 weeks and 4 weeks. The CLCSC is designed for foreign students over 18 years old, and the camp size ranges from 20 to 40 participants. The camp aims to give you a chance to learn Chinese language and to experience Chinese culture.

1. The camp size ranges from 20 to 40 participants. If participants are less than 20 persons, the camp will then be cancelled.
2. The courses are tentative. Arrangements of activities are subject to change due to weather, facility, traffic, and other events of force majeure.
3. We will provide local tour information such as whale watching, white water rafting, river tracing, East Rift Valley National Scenic area tour, and other local festivals schedule. The price depends on the local travel agency's quote.
